Indian Education for All
Advocacy Institute
June 24–26, 2011
Billings, Montana / Crow Indian Reservation

The Indian Education for All Advocacy Institute is designed to provide an advanced IEFA learning opportunity for teachers, administrators, grant directors, librarians, Indian Education instructional coaches, post-secondary educators, and Native language instructors…

> …who have background knowledge about Indian Education for All AND currently integrate IEFA into instructional practice,
> …who wish to be a resource for IEFA in their building or district,
> …who are interested in strengthening Indian Education for All leadership and expertise, and
> …who wish to facilitate partnerships between cultural groups in Montana.

Previous professional development experience with Indian Education for All and the Essential Understandings Regarding Montana Indians is strongly encouraged. Introductory information regarding IEFA will not be provided.

Our focus this year will be on advocacy through facilitation of cultural visits; IEFA advocates can be effective ambassadors, bridging cultural gaps for students and colleagues. We will be visiting the Crow reservation to partake in various cultural events, visit significant sites, and make connections within the Crow community.

Registration will be limited. Please answer the following questions thoroughly to help us ensure a successful experience for all participants. Submit completed questionnaire by May 20. Notification of registration status will be delivered by email no later than May 27 along with specific details regarding the event.

Have you received training on IEFA and EUs? (describe)

Have you previously attended IEFA Best Practices conference or IEFA Advocacy Institute?   Yes   No
Do you provide IEFA resources to colleagues?   Yes   No
Describe any interaction with tribal groups or entities?

How will your participation in this event build on your previous experience and help promote your personal IEFA Advocacy goals?

Please provide summer contact information (most contact will be via email):
Phone:
e-mail address: